HISTORY OF THE BCS

BEFORE 1992

Bowls have had affiliations and relationships with conferences for many years. Most notably, the Big Ten and Pac-10 champions met in the Rose Bowl every year from January 1947 until the inception of the BCS. Other conferences developed similar relationships with other bowls-for example, the Big Eight Conference with the Orange, Southeastern with the Sugar and Southwest with the Cotton. Those bowls selected the best available teams to play their affiliated conference champs.

The relationships proved valuable to both the bowls and the conferences. Because of these affiliations, a berth in a particular bowl became the reward for a conference championship. The close ties between institutions in a conference and a particular bowl encouraged fans to travel to the host city and helped the bowls develop solid economic bases from which they have supported many educational, charitable and community initiatives. Today, conference-and-bowl affiliations remain a vital part of college football.

However, the prevalence of conference-bowl affiliation arrangements usually precluded matchups between highly ranked conference champions because the champion of one conference might be committed to participate in one bowl game and the champion of another conference might be committed to play in another game. Thus the bowl system was not particularly suited to matching the top two teams in a national championship game.

1992-BOWL COALITION

After a lengthy series of meetings in 1991 and early 1992, the commissioners of several conferences and representatives of Notre Dame, along with four bowl committees, created the Bowl Coalition agreement. The Coalition provided a structure which enabled the champions of the Big East Conference and Atlantic Coast Conference and Notre Dame to meet either the champion of the Big Eight (in the Orange Bowl), Southeastern (Sugar Bowl) or Southwest (Cotton Bowl) conferences.

In addition, if the champions of the Big East or ACC or Notre Dame had been ranked No. 1 or 2 at the end of the regular season, they would have met in the Fiesta Bowl for the national championship. Their vacated spots in either the Orange, Sugar or Cotton Bowls would have been filled from a pool of at-large teams made up of the number two teams from the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Eight, Pac-10 and Southwest conferences. To guarantee those at-large teams a post-season home, the conferences contracted with the Gator and John Hancock Bowls to provide three additional slots for number two teams.

The Coalition was in place for the bowl games after the 1992, 1993 and 1994 regular seasons.

In the previous 56 years of post-season play, the number one and number two teams had met only eight times. Given its narrow parameters and aims, the Coalition arrangement was quite successful-it paired the top two teams in two of the three years that it existed. But it had limitations. It could not, for example, pair the champions of the Big Eight and SEC in any bowl game. And because neither the Big Ten nor Pacific-10 champions participated, the Coalition could not pair either of those champions with an opponent from another conference.

The Coalition was a nine-year contractual agreement, subject to review every three years. After the first three years, in January 1995, at the same time that a number of the existing conference-bowl affiliation arrangements also expired, the parties agreed to end the agreement in favor of an improved system-the Bowl Alliance.

1995-BOWL ALLIANCE 1997

In 1995, the relationships between the conferences (except the Big Ten and Pac-10) and the bowls were modified in order to retain the historic bowl venues while increasing the likelihood of matching the No. 1 and No. 2 teams in the country.

The Alliance system was designed to allow the champions of the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Eight, Southeastern and Southwest Conferences along with an at-large team to be matched in the three alliance bowls-Fiesta, Sugar and Orange. A second at-large team was added beginning with the 1996 regular season when the Big 12 Conference replaced the old Big Eight and Southwest Conferences.

The Bowl Alliance instituted two major changes which enhanced the opportunity to produce a national championship game. It eliminated conference-champion tie-ins in the three bowls, which gave those bowls the flexibility to choose the best match-ups. And it included two at-large spots which were open to all Division I-A teams that won at least eight regular season games or were ranked in the top 12 or no lower than the lowest-ranked conference champion participating in the Alliance.

None of the participating conference champions was committed to play in any bowl game as they had been in the past under the conference-bowl affiliation arrangements. This selection procedure permitted the Alliance bowls to match conference champions in games that would not have been played under the previous conference-bowl affiliation arrangements. For example, after the 1995 regular season, the Alliance arrangement created a national championship game in the Fiesta Bowl between the only two unbeaten teams in the nation, Nebraska and Florida.

The Alliance continued for three seasons - the bowl games after the 1995, 1996 and 1997 regular seasons.

Although the Alliance was successful, the conference commissioners and chief executive officers began discussions about the possibility of integrating the Big Ten and Pac-10 champions into a bowl arrangement that would allow for an annual pairing of the top two teams in the nation. The Big Ten, Pac-10 and Rose Bowl agreed that the Rose Bowl would host a national championship game in rotation with the other bowls, and that the Big Ten or Pac-10 champions would not play their traditional game in Pasadena on New Year's Day if the teams were ranked No. 1 or No. 2. Similarly, the Fiesta, Orange and Sugar Bowls enthusiastically supported the new approach, which was informally called the "Super Alliance." Later, of course, it became the Bowl Championship Series.

From the beginning, the BCS was designed to pair the two top-rated teams in a national championship game and to create competitive matchups among highly regarded teams in three other games as part of the bowl system. However, it was not intended that the next six ranked teams automatically would be either paired in the other three bowls, or even guaranteed participation. The bowls were to be provided flexibility to exercise freedom of selection that would create locally attractive games to enhance ticket sales.

A new mathematical formula, the BCS standings, was created to determine the participants. The standings consisted of four elements: subjective polls of writers and coaches, the average of three computer rankings (Sagarin, Seattle Times and New York Times), the teams' records, and a strength-of-schedule index based on the records of a team's opponents and its opponents' opponents.

The champions of the six founding conferences (Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 and Southeastern) were awarded annual automatic qualification.

Also, any Division I-A independent team or champion of the Western Athletic Conference, Conference USA or any other Division I-A conference qualified for a berth if it ranked sixth or higher in the BCS standings. If such a team did qualify by finishing sixth or higher, Notre Dame also would qualify if it was ranked in the top 10 in the final BCS standings or had won at least nine games. If more than two teams met the standard, the bowls would select their participants from among the qualifiers.

If berths remained open after all automatic qualifiers were identified, the bowls would select their participants from a pool of eligible at-large teams. The pool was comprised of all Division I-A teams that won at least eight games and were ranked among the top 12 teams in the BCS standings.

A four-year rotation of BCS championship game sites was established: Fiesta Bowl, then Sugar, Orange and Rose.

The system marked the return of regional consideration regarding team selection, which had been absent in the Alliance. Unless the bowl was hosting the national championship, or the teams qualified to play in the national championship in another bowl, the conference champions were assigned to play in the following designated bowls:

- Big Ten — Rose Bowl
- Pac-10 — Rose Bowl
- Big 12 — Fiesta Bowl
- Southeastern — Sugar Bowl
- ACC or Big East — Orange Bowl

ABC and the BCS signatories signed a four-year agreement to televise the games of January 1999, 2000, 2001 and 2002.

The conferences agreed that if a BCS bowl lost a host team to the national championship game, then that bowl would be the first to select a replacement team. If two BCS bowls lost their host teams, the bowl losing the No. 1 team would have the first at-large selection, followed by the bowl losing the No. 2 team.

If a conference had a runner-up team in the national championship game, its actual champion was not guaranteed a berth in another BCS game.

The first BCS standings were published on November 17. The standings were published four times, with the final version released on selection Sunday, December 6.

The conferences agreed that if a second team from one of the six automatic-qualifying conferences was selected for a BCS game, the conference would receive $6 million for its appearance.

Five more computer rankings were added, making a total of eight in the standings. The new five were Billingsley, Dunkel, Massey, Matthews/Scripps Howard and Rothman. Each team’s highest seven rankings were averaged to determine the computer component of the standings.

Beginning with the 1999 regular season, each conference was subject to review and possible loss of its automatic-qualifier status should the conference champion not have an average ranking of 12 or higher over a four-year period.

The criteria for eligibility for at-large consideration was changed from eight victories to nine victories. The release of the first BCS standings was moved earlier, from November 17 to the Monday after the games of October 23.

The interest income credited to each conference was used to pay the operating expenses of the arrangement.

The National Football Foundation began compiling the BCS standings.

The television contract with ABC was extended to cover the games of 2002-2006.

Beginning with the 2001 regular season, the Dunkel rankings and New York Times poll were no longer used in the BCS standings. Rankings from Dr. Peter Wolfe and Wes Colley were added, leaving a total of eight. Each team’s highest and lowest computer ranking was disregarded, then the remaining six were averaged to determine the computer component of the standings.

To further emphasize the importance of a team’s strength of schedule, a fifth component, “quality wins,” was added to the standings formula. Teams with regular-season victories over opponents ranked in the top 15 of the BCS standings received bonus points-from 1.5 points for a victory over the top-ranked team to 0.1 points for a victory over the team ranked No. 15.

The commissioners voted that the highest-ranked at-large team, if ranked either third or fourth in the BCS standings, would receive an automatic berth, if a spot was available after all other automatic qualifiers were awarded berths.

The length of halftime was reduced from 22 to 20 minutes.

It was agreed that each participating institution’s home radio market could include all stations in the home state and those out-of-state stations that were located within a 75-mile radius of the campus that carried at least 50 percent of the institution’s regular-season games.

The BCS standings were released at 10:30 p.m. Eastern time, each Monday, and were distributed to the print media earlier to allow preparation of news stories.

The commissioners agreed that margin of victory was not an appropriate element in the standings and accordingly removed the Matthews and Rothman rankings from the formula. The New York Times ranking returned, resulting in a total of seven computer rankings for the 2002 season. Only the lowest score was eliminated before averaging the remaining six computer rankings.

The conferences purchased game-cancellation insurance for the income from the BCS bowls effective with the games after the 2002 regular season.

The commissioners agreed that a team on probation would be included in the BCS standings with an asterisk noting that it was not bowl-eligible.

It was decided that if the No. 1 and No. 2 teams in the BCS standings were from the same conference but neither was the conference champion, since no conference could be represented by more than two teams, the conference champion was eliminated from consideration.

Similarly if an automatic-qualifying conference had a team ranked No. 1 or No. 2 in the BCS standings and a second team ranked No. 3 or No. 4, none of which was the conference champion, the conference champion would be excluded from consideration.

The first BCS standings were released on the third Monday in October. ESPN had the exclusive right to release the standings at 6 p.m. Eastern time each week.

It was agreed that the Orange Bowl would begin selecting its host conference (either ACC or Big East) before the start of the season, effective with the 2004 regular season.

- The selection procedures were changed in two ways, effective with the 2003 regular season:
- If an automatic-qualifying conference had a team ranked either No. 1 or No. 2 in the BCS standings and a second team ranked either No. 3 or No. 4, neither of which was the conference champion, and the conference champion was ranked No. 5 or lower, the team ranked No. 3 or No. 4 would not be eligible for a berth in the BCS.
 - If a bowl lost the No. 1 team to the championship game, then the replacement team could not be a team from the same conference as the team ranked No. 2 was also a conference champion, unless the bowl hosting the No. 2 team consents.

The Presidential Oversight Committee and Athletics Directors Advisory Committee were instituted to be a part of the governance of the BCS.

The commissioners requested that the American Football Coaches Association and the Associated Press delay the release of their first polls until the first week of October so that the polls would contain data reflecting only the results of the current season. The two organizations were unable to do so.

As the result of a landmark February meeting, the chief executive officers representing all 11 Division I-A conferences and Notre Dame increased the opportunities for Division I-A institutions to participate, adjusted revenue distribution formulas to recognize the participation of institutions that were not founders of the BCS and agreed in principle to eliminate any adverse consequences of branding that may have unintentionally resulted from the previous contractual arrangements.

A fifth BCS bowl game, the National Championship Game, would be implemented for the four-year cycle beginning with the 2006 regular season. The game would be played on a rotating basis at the site of the Fiesta, Sugar, Orange and Rose Bowls one week after the other four bowl games. The previous rotation- Fiesta, then Sugar, Orange, Rose-was continued.

The composition of the Presidential Oversight Committee was revised to include one member from each of the conferences with an annual automatic berth, and two at-large positions, one of which must be filled by a representative of Conference USA, the Mid-American Conference, the Mountain West Conference or the Sun Belt Conference.

In aggregate, Conference USA, the Mid-American Conference, the Mountain West Conference, the Sun Belt Conference and the Western Athletic Conference were guaranteed nine percent of the annual BCS net revenue for the 2006-2009 regular seasons. Also, if a member of one of those conferences played in one of the BCS games, the group would receive an additional nine percent.

The following changes were made in the automatic-qualification criteria, effective with the 2006 regular season:

- A conference champion from Conference USA, the Mid-American Conference, the Mountain West Conference, the Sun Belt Conference or the Western Athletic Conference would earn an automatic berth if it was (a) ranked in the top 12 of the BCS standings or (b) ranked in the top 16 of the BCS standings and its ranking was higher than that of a champion of one of the annual automatic-qualifying conferences. If more than one team achieved such a ranking, the automatic berth would go to the team with the higher ranking and the other team(s) would be eligible for at-large selection by the bowls.
- Notre Dame would earn an automatic berth if it was ranked No. 8 or higher in the BCS standings.

It was agreed that the original six conferences would receive annual automatic qualification through the 2007 regular season. Standards, based on overall conference competitiveness in the 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007 regular seasons, were created to determine which conferences should have annual automatic berths for their champions for the 2008 and 2009 regular seasons. The champions of no fewer than five and no more than seven conferences would have berths.

The commissioners made the following changes in the standings formula, effective with the 2004 regular season:

- The strength-of-schedule, team-record and quality-win components were removed, inasmuch as those elements were also reflected in the computer rankings.
- The standings formula was adjusted to include the average of the computer rankings, the AP media poll and the USA Today coaches poll, each weighted one-third.
- The New York Times computer rankings were removed, and so the standings formula would be the average of six computer rankings.
- A team’s highest and lowest computer rankings would be discarded when figuring a team’s computer poll average. Points would be assigned in inverse order of ranking from 1-25; the four remaining computer scores would be averaged and the total would be calculated as a percentage of 100.

- The standings formula would no longer average the weekly rank of each team in the media and coaches’ polls. Instead, a team would be evaluated based on the voting points it received in each poll-a team’s AP score would be its points in the poll divided by a possible 1,800 voting points (1,500 voting points in the coaches poll.)

The standings were released to all media agencies at 2 p.m. each Monday.

In November, Fox Sports was awarded the rights to the Fiesta, Orange and Sugar bowls after the 2006, 2007, 2008 and 2009 seasons and the National Championship Game after the 2006, 2007 and 2008 regular seasons. ABC was awarded the rights to the National Championship Game after the 2009 regular season and to the Rose Bowl games after the 2006-2009 seasons.

In light of an announcement by the Associated Press that it would no longer permit the use of its poll as a component of the BCS standings, the Harris Interactive College Football Poll was created as a replacement, beginning with the 2005 regular season.

Army and Navy were each allocated a participation fee of $100,000 for making themselves available to participate in a BCS bowl game if selected effective for the 2006 regular season, in recognition of the investment the academies continue to make in their football programs, the programs’ historical significance and the unique contribution the institutions make to higher education.

It was also agreed that Notre Dame would receive an annual fee of $1.3 million from the BCS in the years when its team does not participate in one of the games, and $4.5 million when its team does participate.

Big 12 commissioner Kevin Weiberg, Big Ten commissioner Jim Delany, University of Mississippi president Robert Khayat and three bowl representatives appeared before a subcommittee of the House of Representatives Energy and Commerce Committee in December.

Relative to whether it was appropriate for the group managing the BCS to set policy in areas such as NCAA action banning certain Native American mascots and uniform logos, it was the unanimous position of the Presidential Oversight Committee that the group had no such regulatory function and that the matter should be referred back to the NCAA to be handled through its bowl licensing process.

In October, former NCAA Division I Men’s Basketball Championship Director Bill Hancock was named BCS Administrator.

It was agreed to incorporate an NCAA public service announcement in the BCS game telecasts if possible.

The Sugar Bowl was moved to Atlanta in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina.

It was agreed that the BCS standings would be released on Fox’s National Football League telecasts on Sunday afternoons.

The Harris poll was retained as an element of the BCS standings through the 2009 regular season. The criteria for selection as an at-large team were revised from nine victories and a ranking in the top 12 of the final BCS standings to nine victories and a ranking in the top 14.

The conferences continued dividing the cost of the game-cancellation insurance among the conferences based upon the percentage of revenue that each conference receives from the BCS games in a particular year.

Temple University, a Division I-A independent, was awarded a $100,000 participation fee for making its team available for the BCS for the 2006 regular season.

The Tom Mickle Internship was established in the office of the bowl hosting the National Championship Game each year, in memory of the late Executive Director of Florida Citrus Sports who was instrumental in forming the BCS.

The conferences unanimously approved a contingency plan to be used in the event a conference is unable to declare its champion by selection Sunday.

A procedure was adopted to break all ties in the BCS standings.

It was agreed not to issue game credentials to scouts from professional teams; rather, the bowls will offer to sell tickets to the professional league office if requested and if tickets are available, with the understanding that the league will distribute the tickets to teams as it wishes.

The group agreed that no more than one replay of each play — to be shown at normal speed — may be shown on the large-screen video boards inside the stadiums.

To prevent underage consumption and to enhance security and the overall fan experience, the sale of alcoholic beverages by vendors in the seating areas was prohibited. Also, sales of alcoholic beverages at concession stands was precluded after the start of the third quarter.

The cost of game-cancellation insurance was added to the BCS budget.

A maximum of $2,025,000 was placed on the total payments made to Football Championship Subdivision Conferences each year, with no conference to receive more than $225,000.

Stadiums were required to provide both wireless and hard-wired Internet access in the working press boxes.

The group agreed that the “red hat” (on-field timeout coordinator) would be hired by the conferences and Notre Dame, at their expense, and should report to a representative of the group at each of the games.

It was agreed that the BCS group would host a reception for representatives of the Football Bowl Association on the Wednesday evening of the April 2008 meeting, at the BCS hotel. It was further agreed that a maximum of three representatives of each bowl would be invited.

The commissioners modified the selection procedures to address a situation where fewer than 10 teams are eligible for selection.

As a result of the agreed-upon evaluation of play in the 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007 regular seasons, five conferences (Atlantic Coast, Big 12, Big Ten, Pacific-10 and Southeastern) earned automatic qualification for the BCS games of January of 2009 and 2010. A sixth, the Big East, met the threshold for receiving a waiver, which was granted.

The commissioners reaffirmed their previous action to require “clean” quadrants of seating for participating institutions during the 2011-14 cycle, and also required that the bowls provide endzone seats at a discount for students.

After discussion of proposals from the conferences, including a presentation on a “Plus One” format, the group agreed without dissent to continue with the existing BCS format for the 2011-14 cycle.

The group unanimously agreed to use the current standards formula for the next cycle, meaning that the results of play during the regular seasons of 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 would be evaluated to identify the conferences that will have automatic qualification after the 2012 and 2013 regular seasons.

Also, in order that the television network would be aware when it purchases the rights which conferences will have annual automatic berths, it was agreed that the cycles for evaluating conferences would coincide with the four-year television cycles in the future. Thus, if the BCS continues under the same or similar format, conferences will be evaluated on their performances during the 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2013 regular seasons to determine which conferences have automatic qualification for the bowls that will conclude the 2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017 regular seasons.

An “administrative philosophy” was created for the National Championship Game, outlining the specific responsibilities of the host bowl and the BCS group.

The annual payment to each Football Championship Subdivision conference was increased from $225,000 to $250,000, with a cap of $2.25 million. Further, the payment for at-large team was increased from $4.5 million to $6 million, effective with the 2010-11 payment, with a $100,000 increase in each of the subsequent three years.

Nebraska chancellor Harvey Perlman and attorney William L. Monts participated in a hearing of the Antitrust Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee July 7. Two senators attended.

In November, the commissioners addressed the possibility of fewer than 10 teams being eligible for selection by agreeing to extend the threshold from the top 14 to top 18 if necessary, and further by blocks of four if still necessary.

The commissioners created governance standards that bowls must meet in order to participate in the BCS.

Adjustments were made in the media policy to require (1) that the head coach and at least two players be available to the media upon the team’s arrival at the airport or hotel, (2) that the team’s leading rusher be added to the list of players required to attend the news conferences during game week, and (3) that, of the two practices during game week that are open to the media, one must be the practice two days before the game.

With the fourth BCS four-year term set to conclude after the 2013-14 season, the commissioners began creating a process for considering possible future formats. These discussions occurred in teleconferences October 4 and 12. The Presidential Oversight Committee members continued the discussion in their in-person meeting November 14.

It was unanimously confirmed that, if the No. 1 and No. 2 teams in the final BCS standings are from the same conference, the conference has an annual automatic berth for its champion, and neither team in the National Championship Game is the conference champion, then only in that instance would three teams from a conference automatically qualify to participate in one of the BCS games.

The Group of 12 and Presidential Oversight Committee unanimously agreed to accept in principle an offer from ESPN to televise 15 BCS games (four Fiesta, Orange and Sugar Bowls and three National Championship Games) at the conclusion of the 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2013 regular seasons. A contract was subsequently signed to that effect.

Each conference’s constituents reviewed a proposal for change from the Mountain West Conference, and agreed to comply with the agreements that had been negotiated with the bowls and ESPN for the 2011-14 cycle. The group agreed to consider proposals from any conference for 2015 and thereafter.

The group unanimously approved a new policy for news conferences, stipulating that the student-athletes who accompany the offensive and defensive coordinators to the news conferences at the bowl sites must include the starting quarterback, leading tackler, all major national award winners and first-team all-Americans.

The commissioners emphasized the importance of transparency in the two human polls that are a part of the BCS standings.

In the fall of 2009, the Presidential Oversight Committee changed the administrative structure of the BCS, doing away with the role of BCS Coordinator – which had previously been held by conference commissioners on a two-year rotating basis – and replacing the position with an executive director. Bill Hancock, former director of the NCAA Men’s Final Four, was named executive director.

2012 AND 2013

The Presidential Oversight Committee members and commisioners turned their attention to the new playoff that would begin in the 2014-15 season. The chronology for those two years is available in the 2014-15 College Football Playoff media guide.

2014

On January 6 in Pasadena, Florida State defeated Auburn in the final BCS national championship game. That spring, with the final distribution of revenue to the conferences, the BCS officially ended.

The BCS arrangement provided numerous benefits to college football and its fans. It paired teams in national championship games that would not have been possible under the bowl arrangements existing before its creation. It enhanced the regular season. It contributed to the growth of the bowl system in general, to the benefit of every Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) school. And it enhanced opportunities for teams from all FBS conferences to participate in the Fiesta, Orange, Rose, and Sugar Bowls.

History will view the BCS in a very positive light.

Recap
Saying goodbye is never easy, but the Florida State Seminoles and the Auburn Tigers gave a fitting salute to the Bowl Championship Series’ 16-year run with an exhilarating National Championship Game that had twists and turns and everything in between.

Playing beneath the backdrop of the majestic San Gabriel Mountains and the bright lights of the Rose Bowl Stadium, the ACC and SEC champions engaged in a 60-minute battle that required every tick of the clock. While Florida State came in with a perfect 14-0 record and an average victory margin of more than 28 points, it would not be so easy for head coach Jimbo Fisher’s squad on this night. The Seminoles struck first, capping their opening possession with Roberto Aguayo’s 35-yard field goal, but quarterback Nick Marshall passed for two touchdowns and ran for another as Auburn built a 21-3 advantage in the second quarter. The Tigers would retain the lead until late in the game. It was 21-10 at halftime and 21-13 through three quarters before freshman Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback Jameis Winston pulled the Seminoles within one point by tossing an 11-yard touchdown pass to fullback Chad Abram 4:05 into the final period.

Auburn countered with a lengthy drive that consumed 6:13 and culminated in Cody Parkey’s 22-yard field goal for a 24-20 lead with 4:42 left—and then the fireworks really began. Florida State star special teamer Levonte Whitfield took the ensuing kickoff out from his own end zone and ran untouched down the left sidelines for a 100-yard touchdown return to give his team its first lead since the first quarter, 27-24. With plenty of time still on the clock, the beasts of the Southeast wouldn’t go quietly. Marshall quickly tossed a pair of first-down completions to wide receiver Sammie Coates, and Tre Mason rattled off a few short runs, but the halfback was saving his best for last. On second-and-15 from Florida State’s 37-yard line, Mason took a handoff, bounced out to the right and found a sizeable gap along the line. He busted through the hole, eluded a defender at the 20 and raced to the end zone. Mason’s Herculean touchdown put the Tigers back on top by a score of 31-27, and, with 1:19 remaining on the clock, Auburn’s second BCS title in four years was in sight. Unfortunately for head coach Gus Malzahn’s group, 79 seconds turned out to be a lifetime for the Heisman Trophy winner standing on the far sidelines. Unfazed by the score, the time or what was at stake, Winston orchestrated a game-winning drive that will forever live in college football lore. Highlighted by a 49-yard pitch and catch with Rashad Greene, Winston drove the Seminoles from their 20 to Auburn’s 5-yard line with 21 seconds to go. A pass-interference penalty set up a first-and-goal at the 2-yard line. With no timeouts remaining and the clock reading 17 seconds, Winston went looking for Kelvin Benjamin, his 6-foot 5-inch target. The junior wideout snatched the ball out of the air for the game-winning touchdown with just 13 seconds left. After a 14-year wait, the Seminoles once again were the kings of college football.

Recap
Alabama rolled past Notre Dame 42-14 in front of a Sun Life Stadium record crowd of 80,120. The win was Alabama’s third BCS title in four years and the Crimson Tide became the first team in the BCS era to win back-to-back national championships. The win also secured Alabama its ninth AP title, the most by any school. Crimson Tide running back Eddie Lacy earned offensive MOP honors. Lacy finished the game with 140 yards on 20 carries and a pair of touchdowns (one rushing, one receiving). Quarterback AJ McCarron threw four touchdown passes while completing 20 of 28 pass attempts. The Crimson Tide led 28-0 at halftime. Linebacker C.J. Mosley earned MOP defensive honors by leading a stout Alabama defense with eight tackles. The Fighting Irish were held to 32 yards rushing. For the Irish, it was a disappointing end to a storybook season. After compiling a 12-0 regular-season record with some emotional and dramatic victories, the Irish were beaten for the first time.

Recap
Alabama’s defense held LSU to just 92 total yards as the Crimson Tide claimed the national championship with a 21-0 victory.
Alabama won its second BCS title in the last three years and avenged a 9-6 regular-season overtime loss to the Tigers in the process.
Alabama quarterback A.J. McCarron earned Offensive Most Valuable Player honors after throwing for 234 yards on 23-of-34 passing. Kicker Jeremy Shelley tied an all-bowls record with five made field goals which gave Alabama a 15-0 lead after three quarters. Tide running back Trent Richardson sealed the win with a 34-yard touchdown run with 4:36 left in the game.
Alabama’s Courtney Upshaw earned Defensive Most Valuable Player honors after leading the Tide with seven tackles, including six individual stops and a sack.
The Crimson Tide posted 384 yards of total offense while holding the Tigers to the second-lowest yardage total in a BCS game. The Tide also had 21 first downs to just five for LSU. The Tigers didn’t cross midfield until midway through the fourth quarter.

Recap
Auburn’s Wes Byrum connected on a 19-yard field goal as time expired tobeat Oregon 22-19 and give Auburn its first BCS crown as well as a fifth straight title to the SEC. On the game’s final possession, Auburn drove 73 yards to the Oregon 1-yard line before Byrum made the winning kick. The drive included a 37-yard run by fresh-man running back Michael Dyer. A 28-yard field goal by Byrum with 11:30 left in the third quarter gave Auburn a 19-11 lead. The Ducks, undefeated champions of the Pac-10 Conference, scored a touchdown with 2:33 left on a 2-yard pass from Darron Thomas to running back LaMichael James. Oregon added a two-point conversion to tie the score 19-19. Auburn led 16-11 at halftime on the strength of a 35-yard touchdown passfrom Cam Newton to wideout Kodi Burns, a safety and a 30-yard scoring toss from Newton to receiver Emory Blake. Oregon opened the scoring when Rob Beard made a 26-yard field goal early in the second quarter. The Ducks gained an 11-7 edge in the second quarter on an 8-yard touchdown pass from Thomas to James and a two-point conversion.

The Tigers outgained the Ducks in total yards thanks to a huge edge in rushing yards. Newton, the Heisman Trophy winner, completed 20-of-34 passes for 265 yards and rushed for 64 more yards. Dyer, who was named the outstanding offensive player of the game, gained 143 yards on 22 carries with one touchdown.Auburn defensive tackle Nick Fairley was named the outstanding defensive player after tallying five solo tackles, including three tackles for loss and one sack.

Recap
The 2010 national title game featured key turnovers, key plays and, more than anything, a key injury, as Alabama defeated Texas, 37-21.
On its first drive, Alabama botched a fake punt that Texas’ Blake Gideon intercepted at the Tide’s 37-yard line. From there, Colt McCoy led his Longhorns to the Alabama 11, but then came the key injury. On the next play, Texas’ star quarterback was sacked, and to the horror of the Longhorn faithful, left the game for good with a shoulder injury. In came inexperienced freshman Garret Gilbert, and Texas conservatively plodded to a 3-0 lead.
Another Alabama turnover on the ensuing kickoff allowed the Longhorns to cash in for three more points and a 6-0 lead. However, the momentum changed in the second quarter. Heisman Trophy-winner Mark Ingram punched in the first of his two touchdowns less than a minute into the period.
Trent Richardson added a touchdown with a 49-yard scamper and a Leigh Tiffin field goal made it 17-6. Then, to bookend a disastrous second quarter for the Longhorns, Alabama lineman Marcel Dareus picked off a shovel pass and ran it back 28 yards for a score in what would be an insurmountable 24-6 halftime lead.

Coach Mack Brown and the Longhorns didn’t just roll over, though. Gilbert completed touchdown passes of 44 and 28 yards to Jordan Shipley, and a successful two-point conversion brought the score to 24-21. That glimmer of hope was extinguished, though, with a fumble and two interceptions as Alabama ran up 13 more points to cement its 13th national title.

Recap
Tim Tebow and Percy Harvin supplied the key offensive plays to lead Florida to its second championship in three years, in a 24-14 win over Oklahoma. Despite a career-high two interceptions, Tebow rebounded late in the game, clinching the victory with his patented jump-pass -- he took two hard steps toward the line, jumped and zipped a 4-yard touchdown pass to David Nelson with 3:07 to make it 24-14. Harvin returned from an ankle injury and dashed for 122 yards on only nine carries. His 52-yard gallop set up Jonathan Phillips’ 27-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter for a 17-14 lead. These teams entered the night averaging a combined 99 points per game, but wound up with a scoreless first quarter. In the second quarter, Florida’s defense made a pair of goal line stands that left it 7-7 at halftime. Tebow struggled throughout the first half with the only highlight a 20-yard touchdown pass to Louis Murphy for a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter. OU’s Sam Bradford came right back with a swift 65-yard drive, capped by his 6-yard TD toss to Jermaine Gresham.

The Florida defense was exceptional throughout, including a pair of goalline stands in the first half. Oklahoma owned a first-and-goal at the 9 and Chris Brown carried four straight times, but the Gators stood up the 1,100-yard rusher, twice stuffing him from the 1. With 10 seconds left in the half from the 6, Bradford tried to hit Manuel Johnson at the goal line, but the pass deflected off him and three Gator defenders before Major Wright had the interception.

Recap
LSU danced, dodged and darted its way to its second national title in four years behind quarterback Matt Flynn’s four touchdown strikes. The Tigers, the first two-loss team to even play for the national title, rallied from an early 10-0 deficit, taking a 24-10 halftime lead that held up. Jacob Hester bulled for a short touchdown, Early Doucet wiggled loose for a touchdown and Glenn Dorsey led a unit that outplayed the top-ranked defense in the nation. Better on offense and defense, the Tigers also got two big plays on special teams -- Ricky Jean-Francois blocked a field goal, and LSU took advantage of a roughing-the-kicker penalty. Flynn hit Doucet with a 4-yard toss with 9:04 left for a 31-10 lead and the Tiger fans were ready celebrate. The Buckeyes made the score more respectable on Todd Boeckman’s 5-yard TD pass on fourth down to Brian Robiskie, only to have Flynn come back and throw his second TD pass to Richard Dickson.

Tied at 10, the Buckeyes counted on Wells. He delivered one of the season’s best stiff-arms on a 29-yard romp, and Ohio State seemed poised to retake the lead. Instead, Jean-Francois crashed through the middle, swung his big right arm and blocked Pretorius’ 38-yard field goal try.

Recap
Florida dominated undefeated Ohio State and streaked to the BCS national championship, behind coach Urban Meyer’s two-quarterback system. Ohio State started strong as Ted Ginn, Jr., returned the opening kickoff 93 yards for a touchdown, but then it quickly fell apart for the Buckeyes. Ginn hurt his foot in the touchdown celebration and didn’t return to the field until the second half - on crutches - and Florida led 34-14. Gator starting quarterback Chris Leak, maligned for never winning the big one, completed 25 of 36 passes for 213 yards and a touchdown. Supersub Tim Tebow threw for one TD and powered into the end zone for another.

Defensive ends Derrick Harvey and Jarvis Moss made it a miserable night for Buckeye quarterback Troy Smith, the Heisman Trophy winner. The Gators sacked him five times and held him to minus-29 yards on 10 runs. The Buckeyes had beat a pair of No. 2 teams, defending champion Texas and Michigan, earlier in the season, and they held a 19-game winning streak. However, they were no match for Florida’s speed and style. The Buckeyes looked flummoxed by Florida’s frenetic offense. Trying to match up with the Gators’ shifting formations, they often jumped around at the line and still were out of position. Leak gladly took advantage of the confusion, picking wide-open receivers at will and hitting his first nine passes. By the end, the numbers were numbing. Florida outgained the Buckeyes 370 yards to 82, led in first downs 21-8 and time of possession 40:48 to 19:12.

Recap
Vince Young single-handedly outperformed two-time defending national champion and No. 1 USC’s two Heisman trophy winners – Matt Leinart and Reggie Bush. Young ran and threw for a Rose Bowl Game-record 467 yards of total offense – passing for 267 yards and rushing for 200 yards and three TDs, two of those coming near the end of the fourth quarter to author a comeback that will forever live as one of the greatest in Rose Bowl Game history.

After USC took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter, Texas came alive in the second, scoring 16 points to USC’s three to take a 16-10 halftime lead. The Trojans responded with four touchdowns sandwiched around one Texas TD and a field goal to take a 38-26 lead with 6:42 remaining.

It was then that Young went to work. On the ensuing drive, he calmly took his offense 69 yards in just 2:39 and capped it with a 17-yard touchdown run.

After the Longhorns stopped the Torjans on fourth down on the next drive, Young took the ball with 2:09 remaining. As the USC faithful who traveled across town feared, Young did what Young does when it matters: He drove his team into scoring territory and, well, scored. He took a quarterback draw on 4th and 5 into the end zone from 8 yards out with 19 seconds left.

The victory ended a 34-game USC winning streak and earned Texas its first national championship since 1970.

Recap
Heisman Trophy winner Matt Leinart threw a record five touchdown passes and Southern California overwhelmed Oklahoma 55-19, ending the season just as they started: No. 1.
With the aid of four Oklahoma turnovers, the Trojans ambushed then Sooners with 38 points in the final 20 minutes of the first half. Leinart became the first Heisman winner to win a national title since Michigan’s Charles Woodson in 1997. Leinart tossed four scores in the first half as the Trojans turned an early 7-0 deficit into a 38-10 halftime lead.

The Trojans reached a season high for points and turned the game into a USC highlight reel, with Leinart making pinpoint passes and his receivers making spectacular catches. Steve Smith caught an Orange Bowl record three touchdowns, LenDale White ran for 118 yards and two scores and USC’s defense smothered Oklahoma’s freshman sensation Adrian Peterson.
Trailing 7-0, USC knotted the game on a 33-yard TD pass, then took the lead as White reached the ball over the goal line after a misplayed punt. USC made it 21 straight points with the help of Oklahoma’s second turnover. Under pressure, Jason White heaved a deep ball into quadruple-coverage and Jason Leach came up with USC’s 20th interception of the season.

Recap
Riding its defense, LSU claimed its second national title with a 21-14 win over Oklahoma in the BCS National Championship Game. The title was the first for the Tigers since 1958 - a championship also clinched in the Sugar Bowl.

LSU opened the game up with a 64-yard rush from Justin Vincent on the first play from scrimmage but failed to score on that possession. The Tigers did score on their next possession after a Corey Webster interception that put LSU on the Oklahoma 32-yard line. Three plays later, Skyler Green scored on a 24-yard end-around to put the Tigers up 7-0.

The teams traded scores in the second quarter as Sooner running back Kejuan Jones tied up the game at 7-7 with a 1-yard touchdown run, and later in the quarter, Vincent dashed into the end zone on an 18-yard TD run to put LSU up again 14-7 at the half. The Tigers opened the second-half much like they did in the beginning of the game by scoring fast. Marcus Spears intercepted a Jason White pass less than a minute into the third quarter for a 20-yard score.

Oklahoma pulled within seven early in the fourth quarter on another 1-yard run by Jones. The Sooners then made a late-game push to the LSU 12, but four failed pass attempts gave up the ball back to LSU, which let the clock run down for the win.

Scoring Summary

Recap
For three quarters, the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl was a perfectly good, if not memorable, college football championship game. By the end of the fourth quarter, with Ohio State and Miami tied at 17, it was a classic.
After two overtimes, and the Buckeyes’ 31-24 victory, it was one of the greatest ever.
The game was won by a five-yard touchdown run from Maurice Claret, followed by Ohio State’s defense turning back one final bid by No. 1 Miami.With that, the Buckeyes completed an unlikely, unbeaten run to their first national title in 34 years. But it would have never happened if not for a late pass interference call at the end of the first overtime. Instead, the fourth-down call gave Ohio State the chance it needed to tie the game and send it into the second overtime.
Miami’s Todd Sievers sent the game into overtime with his 40-yard field goal on the final play of the fourth quarter. The Buckeyes’ punishing defense had rattled and pounded Miami quarterback Ken Dorsey all night. And on the last play of the game, on fourth-and-goal at the 1, Cie Grant blitzed and forced Dorsey to heave a desperation pass that linebacker Matt Wilhelm batted to the ground.
A few plays earlier, Wilhelm knocked Dorsey to the sideline for one play. He came back in, but the Buckeyes would not be denied against a team trying to secure its place in history as one of college football’s great dynasties.

Recap
For the first time since 1947, the Rose Bowl Game didn’t host a Big Ten-Pac 10 matchup; instead it hosted the national championship in the Bowl Championship Series. And fans were treated to a truly dominating performance by Miami, which could likely have been crowned the champ at halftime.

The Hurricanes raced out to a 34-0 lead at intermission – the highest point total in any half in Rose Bowl Game history – and finished it off in the second half for a 37-14 win, the national championship, their 22nd straight Division I win and a perfect season. Quarterback Ken Dorsey connected with receiver Andre Johnson for 199 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Hurricane assault. Dorsey, a Northern California native, threw for 362 yards – the fourth-best total in Rose Bowl Game history – and three touchdowns.

The story of the game was an 11-minute stretch in the second quarter when the Hurricanes scored 27 points. That stretch included a 39-yard touchdown run from Clinton Portis, a James Lewis 47-yard interception return for a touchdown, a 21-yard strike from Dorsey to Jeremy Shockey and an 8-yard throw to Johnson before the half.

Nebraska’s biggest bright spot was the 197 yards rushing they amassed in the game – helped largely by Heisman Trophy winner Eric Crouch’s 114.

The Miami pass defense, however, held him to just five completions for 62 yards.

Recap
Oklahoma used a smothering defense to shut down the third-ranked Seminoles and Josh Heupel generated enough offense to lead the Sooners to a perfect season and their first national championship in 15 years.
The Seminoles were hoping to become the first team to repeat as national champion since Nebraska in 1994-95. Heupel more than made up for his runner-up finish to Florida State’s Chris Weinke in the Heisman Trophy race by outplaying him in the biggest game of his life.
The left-hander from Aberdeen, S.D., completed 25 of 39 passes for 214 yards and kept the Seminoles off balance all night. Tim Duncan kicked two field goals and Quentin Griffin scored the clinching touchdown on a 10-yard run up the middle with 8:30 to play.
Florida State avoided its first shutout in 12 seasons when Stanford Samuels tackled Oklahoma punter Jeff Ferguson in the end zone for a safety with 55 seconds remaining.

Florida State got the ball back on the ensuing free kick, but Weinke’s 29-yard pass into the end zone was intercepted by Donteï Jones with 16 seconds left and the celebration began. After Heupel took a knee and the clock ran down.
Oklahoma clinched its seventh national title as many in the crowd of 76,835 at Pro Player Stadium cheered. Orange Bowl MVP Torrance Marshall finished with six tackles, one interception and one batted ball.

Recap
Peter Warrick provided the fireworks and Florida State put the exclamation point on its wire-to-wire National Championship season with a convincing 46-29 victory over Virginia Tech.
Warrick set a Sugar Bowl record with 20 points scored as Bobby Bowden posted his first unbeaten season while the Seminoles cemented their claim as the team of the 1990s with their second national title of the decade.
Warrick scored on a 59-yard punt return, a 64-yard touchdown reception, a 43-yard touchdown reception and a two-point conversion. After FSU pulled ahead 28-7 early in the second quarter, the Hokies scored 22 unanswered points behind quarterback Michael Vick’s heroics. But FSU put 18 points on the board in the final quarter to end the Hokies’ Cinderella season.
Vick finished with 97 yards rushing and passed for 225 yards. But the Seminoles sacked him seven times and didn’t give him time to throw, especially in the fourth quarter.

Recap

Peerless Price handed Tennessee its first national championship since 1951, setting up one score with a 76-yard catch and breaking open the game with a 79-yard touchdown reception in a 23-16 victory over Florida State in the Fiesta Bowl.

Overshadowed by the attention given Florida State standout Peter Warrick, Price truly was peerless. He made four catches for 199 yards. Warrick caught just one pass for seven yards, making his only impact with a long punt return in the first half.

The game was a defensive war until early in the final period when Price hauled in Tee Martin’s rainbow, cruising the final 40 yards to give the Vols a 20-9 lead with 9:17 remaining. A sack and forced fumble by Shaun Ellis on the next play from scrimmage set up a 23-yard field goal that extended the lead to 23-9.

The Volunteers were able to stifle the attack of Florida State despite injuries to safety Deon Grant, defensive tackle Ron Green and cornerback Dwayne Goodrich,who had a 54-yard interception return for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Despite a rash of penalties, the Seminoles responded with a five-play, 49-yard drive capped by Outzen’s seven-yard scoring run with 3:42 left. A fourth-down screen pass from Martin to fullback Shawn Bryson produced a first down at the 10 and appeared to seal the win for the Volunteers. But a Tennessee fumble gave FSU hope. With 89 seconds and three timeouts left, Outzen threw a long pass intended for Laveranues Coles, but Steve Johnson intercepted and Tennessee ran out the clock, giving coach Phillip Fulmer his first title.

- 10. Florida
- 11. Penn State
- 12. Marshall

Step-by-Step Process

1. Sugar Bowl was the championship game — No. 1 Florida State and No. 2 Virginia Tech
2. Fiesta Bowl had Big 12 champion Nebraska
3. Rose Bowl had Big Ten champion Wisconsin and Pac-10 champion Stanford
4. Orange Bowl selected Alabama as a replacement team (Either Florida State or Virginia Tech would have hosted the Orange Bowl, so it made no difference which team was the technical host. The Orange Bowl was entitled to only one replacement pick under the policy at the time)
5. Fiesta Bowl selected Tennessee
6. Orange Bowl selected Michigan.

Pairings

- Sugar Bowl (championship game) – Florida State vs. Virginia Tech
- Fiesta Bowl – Nebraska vs. Tennessee
- Orange Bowl – Michigan vs. Alabama
- Rose Bowl – Wisconsin vs. Stanford

(Note: Before selection Sunday, the Orange Bowl had the option to choose either the ACC or Big East champion to be its host team; it selected the ACC.)

Fiesta Bowl – Oregon State vs. Notre Dame
Rose Bowl – Washington vs. Purdue

2001-02 GAMES

Teams qualifying automatically by winning conference championships:
ACC – Maryland
Big East – Miami
Big Ten – Illinois
Big 12 - Colorado*
Pac-10 – Oregon
Southeastern – LSU (defeated Tennessee in championship game)

Other teams qualifying automatically
No. 2 Nebraska* (qualified for championship game)
No. 3 Colorado * (3-4 rule)

*Although Colorado was the Big 12 champion, Nebraska technically earned the Big 12’s automatic berth because it qualified for the national championship game.

Other teams eligible for at-large selection

- 5. Florida
- 6. Tennessee
- 9. Stanford
- 12. Washington State

Step-by-Step Process

- 1. Rose Bowl was championship game – Miami vs. Nebraska
- 2. Sugar Bowl had SEC champion LSU
- 3. Orange Bowl selected Florida to replace Big East champion Miami (Big East was slated to host the Orange Bowl)
- 4. Fiesta Bowl selected Colorado
- 5. Fiesta Bowl selected Oregon (All three bowls had previously exercised a selection priority. Therefore, the Fiesta Bowl got first priority and selected Oregon.)
- 6. (The Orange Bowl and Sugar Bowl listed the preferences; the Orange Bowl preferred Maryland and the Sugar Bowl preferred Illinois.)

Pairings

Rose Bowl (championship game) – Miami vs. Nebraska
Fiesta Bowl – Oregon vs. Colorado
Orange Bowl – Florida vs. Maryland
Sugar Bowl – LSU vs. Illinois

(Note: Before selection Sunday, the Orange Bowl had the option to choose either the ACC or Big East champion to be its host team; it selected the Big East.)

2002-03 GAMES

Teams qualifying automatically by winning conference championships:
ACC – Florida State
Big East – Miami
Big Ten – Ohio State
Big 12 – Oklahoma (defeated Colorado in championship game)
Pac-10 – Washington State
Southeastern – Georgia (defeated Arkansas in championship game)

Other teams qualifying automatically
No. 4 Southern Cal (3-4 rule)

Other teams eligible for at-large selection

- 5. Iowa
- 7. Oklahoma
- 8. Kansas State
- 9. Notre Dame
- 10. Texas
- 11. Michigan
- 12. Penn State

Step-by-Step Process

- 1. Fiesta was the championship game, No. 1 Miami and No. 2 Ohio State
- 2. Rose Bowl had Pac-10 champion Washington State
- 3. Sugar Bowl had SEC champion Georgia
- 4. Orange Bowl selected Iowa to replace Miami
- 5. Rose Bowl selected Oklahoma to replace Ohio State
- 6. Orange Bowl exercised its right of priority and selected USC
- 7. Sugar Bowl selected Florida State

Pairings

Other teams qualifying automatically
No. 1 Oklahoma

Other teams eligible for at-large selection

- 5. Ohio State
- 8. Tennessee
- 11. Miami Ohio
- 12. Georgia

Step-by-Step Process

- 1. Sugar Bowl had Oklahoma and LSU
- 2. Rose Bowl had USC and Michigan
- 3. Fiesta Bowl had Kansas State
- 4. Orange Bowl selected the Big East as its host conference; thus it had Miami.
- 5. Fiesta Bowl and Orange Bowl then listed the top three teams they wished to select: Fiesta Bowl listed 1. Ohio State, 2. Florida State, 3. Tennessee; Orange Bowl listed 1. Ohio State; 2. Florida State, 3. Georgia
Because the Orange Bowl had exercised its right to priority the previous year, the Fiesta Bowl had priority and was entitled to its selection of Ohio State
- 6. Orange Bowl was entitled to its selection of Florida State

(It was noted that the Sugar Bowl would have selection priority next year if such a situation arose. If the Sugar Bowl used its right to selection priority next year, the Orange Bowl would have the first selection right again, if necessary, the following year.)

Pairings

Sugar Bowl (championship game) – Florida State vs. Virginia Tech
Fiesta Bowl – Nebraska vs. Tennessee
Orange Bowl – Michigan vs. Alabama
Rose Bowl – Wisconsin vs. Stanford

(Note: Before selection Sunday, the Orange Bowl had the option to choose either the ACC or Big East champion to be its host team; it selected the ACC.)

A SPECIAL THANK YOU

To the thousands of media members across the country who helped promote and support the Bowl Championship Series throughout the years. We salute an extraordinary group of seven who covered all 16 national championship games: (pictured from left to right) Tony Barnhardt, Ivan Maisel, Chris Dufresne, Dick Weiss, Dennis Dodd, Mark Blaudshun and Blair Kerkhoff.

Editor note: we would also like to recognize the following individuals for their contributions in compiling the standings, statistics and more during the course of the BCS. Russ Anderson, Bo Carter, Cody Kellner, John Paquette and the National Football Foundation.
